TOURIST ATTRACTIONS:

AYUTTHAYA

- ◆ Wat Phanan Choeng - Predates the founding of Ayutthaya. The temple is Buddhist but also has a Chinese character in side and around it are numerous Chinese Temples for numerous Chinese Gods and other Deities.
- ◆ Wat Mahathat - If you are travelling in Thailand for any length of time, there is one iconic image that you may see crop up time and again on postcards and in guide-books. The photograph of a Buddha head entwined within the roots of a tree is one of the most recognisable images from Thailand, and this is why Wat Mahathat become famous.

NAKHON SAWAN

- ◆ Wat Khun Inthapramun - Wat Khun Inthapramun is ancient temple that was constructed during the Sukhothai period, its vast size still outlined by brick ruins. The largest and longest reclining Buddha statue in Thailand, 50 meters from topknot to feet, is enshrined here. Originally, the reclining Buddha image was housed in the image hall, or Wihan, but after a fire raged through the temple, the image was abandoned to the elements for hundreds of years.
- ◆ Wat Tha Sung - build in Ayutthaya period with only a small temple on the ground, a later restoration took place with many interesting additions, including the murals inside the temple painted by local craftsmen depicting the story of Buddha and a square structure with four arches and a pyramid-shaped roof which houses a replica of a Phra Buddha Chinnaraj image and the undecomposed body of Luang Pho Ruesi Lingdam.

SUKHOTHAI

- ◆ Wat Si Chum - The name of the temple translates to "temple of the Bodhi tree", was built in 1890 during the reign of King Rama V by wealthy Burmese people, Jong Taka U Yo, his son in law, U Mong Yee, and the stepmother, Pom Boriboon. The roofless mondop building enshrines a huge Sukhothai style Buddha image named Phra Achana. The Phra Achana is the largest Buddha image in Sukhothai measuring 15 meters high and 11 meters wide. Phra Achana translates to "He who is not frightened". The image's name is known from a stone inscription that was discovered during excavations at the Wat Si Chum. It is a temple with beautiful Burmese art inside including a gold pagoda of Mon-Burmese art. The Buddha's relics which were brought from Myanmar in 1906 are inside.

CHIANG MAI

- ◆ Pha Chor Canyon - Pha Chor grand canyon is located in Doi Lo District, under the supervision of Mae Wang National Park. It is a natural phenomenon caused by the erosion of Wind and rain until the land is believed to be hundreds of years ago. On a thousand years ago, this area used to be the passage of the Ping River which is observed from the lump. The rounded pebbles were scattered in a large amount of soil until the Ping River changed its direction and flowed through another place.
