TOURIST ATTRACTIONS:

TIANSHAN HEAVENLY LAKE

- ◆ Tianshan Heavenly Lake Scenic Area - Located at about 1,900 meters above sea level, this glacial alpine lake features clear blue waters reflecting surrounding snow-capped mountains and forests. Known as the "Fairy Pool of the Queen Mother of the West," it carries rich Chinese mythological significance. Scenic spots like Shimen Gorge, Longtan Biyue, and Dinghai Shenzhen showcase both Tianshan's natural wonders and cultural stories.

KANAS

- ◆ Kanas Scenic Area - Known for its changing colours through the seasons, Kanas Lake is surrounded by snow-capped mountains, forests, and meadows. Scenic spots like Wolong Bay and Moon Bay offer stunning views of the crystal-clear water. Tuva wooden houses and herders' tents add ethnic charm.

FUYUN

- ◆ Keketuohai Scenic Area - Shaped over millions of years by tectonic and glacial activity, Keketuohai features granite peaks, deep canyons, and winding river valleys. The area preserves world-class granite pegmatites and the Karasenger Fault Zone, a mark of the 1931 Fuyun earthquake. Beyond its striking natural and geological features, it highlights Kazakh pastoral songs and folk traditions, making it a distinctive highland destination in Northwest China.

BURQIN

- ◆ Burqin Five-Coloured Beach - Five-Coloured Beach in Xinjiang's Burqin River Valley is a vivid Yadan landscape shaped by wind erosion, with rock formations glowing in shades of red, yellow, purple, and grey. The river divides the scene into rugged desert on one side and lush greenery on the other. At sunset, the colours deepen, creating one of northern Xinjiang's most iconic vistas.

URHO

- ◆ Urho Ghost City - Located in Karamay, Xinjiang, this area is famous for its dramatic wind-eroded rock pillars and "castle" formations. The rocks rise in striking shapes — spires, solitary peaks, and natural corridors — with the wind whistling through them, adding an eerie, mystical aura. The landscape is both desolate and majestic, especially at sunset, when the rocks glow in golden light, creating a breathtaking view.

DUSHANZI

- ◆ Nalati Grassland - Located in Ili, Xinjiang, at an altitude of about 2,200 meters, Nalati Grassland blends snow-capped mountains, canyons, and flower-filled meadows, and is recognized as one of the world's four major alpine meadows. In summer, lush pastures dotted with wildflowers, cattle, and sheep create a charming landscape. The Sky Grassland perched on the Tianshan mid-mountain, offers panoramic views of valleys, rolling mountains, and vast pastures, presenting a truly breathtaking natural scenery.
