CHIANG RAI

- ◆ Golden Triangle – At the intersection between the Mekong River and Kong River, the gate of the borders in Thailand, Burma and Laos.
- ◆ Wat Rong Suea Ten (Blue Temple) – It was built in 1996. The Blue Temple was designed and built by the apprentice of the designer of the White Temple in Chiang Rai. Although the scale is smaller than the White Temple, the overall appearance is dazzling and magnificent blue, and the Buddha statues inside are exquisite. It is a Thai-style temple that perfectly blends traditional and modern art.
- ◆ Wat Huay Pla Kang – The most striking thing is that there is a huge lotus Avalokitesvara holding a white porcelain bottle, which looks really shocking. There is also an elevator inside the Avalokitesvara to the top and enjoy the beautiful scenery around the temple. On both sides of the steps leading to the Avalokitesvara statue lie a giant white dragon with fine carvings. Under the sunlight, it is dazzling and eye-catching. In addition, there is also a 9-story golden dragon pagoda in the traditional style of northern Thailand and a Buddhist hall.
- ◆ Wat Rong Khun (White Temple) – It was built in 1998. Because the temple is plain white in color and carved with various ornate patterns of white dragons, it has become a unique building that breaks through the traditional Thai temples, attracting many tourists to take pictures. Designer Xu Longcai hopes to use the White Temple to perfectly integrate Buddhism and art, and choose white to imply the purity of the Buddha and the wisdom of the Buddha to illuminate the universe.
- ◆ Singha Park – Located on Den Ha-Dong Mada Road, Mae Kon Subdistrict, is situated approximately 6 kilometres from Wat Rong Khun. It is an agricultural tourism destination spanning over 12.8 square kilometres, boasting beautiful natural landscapes, tea plantations, and various crops. During the winter season, visitors can enjoy fields of cosmos flowers, sunn hemp fields, and fruits; such as, strawberries, jujube, as well as, special tea blends from the plantations. Additionally, there are activities available for rent, including bicycle tours within the plantation, ziplining, and tram service for sightseeing.
