TOURIST ATTRACTIONS:

HUA HIN

- ◆ Wat Tham Chaeng - Is in the Cha-am area of Phetchaburi Province, Thailand. It is a temple that blends Buddhist beliefs with modern artistic design. Originally, it served as a place for monks' practice and community religious activities. Later, it was expanded and incorporated symbolic architecture representing the Naga, the divine serpent that protects the Dharma. The most striking feature of the temple is the large, colorful Naga (dragon) statue, which is approximately 227 meters long and 31 meters high. It symbolizes the protection of the Buddhist teachings and the promotion of Buddhist culture, becoming the temple's main landmark.

KANCHANABURI

- ◆ Wat Metta Dharma Bodhiyan - Is a Buddhist temple characterized by Mahayana Buddhism and Zen practice culture. It was developed and promoted by a Chinese Buddhist community and mainly serves the purposes of Dharma propagation, meditation practice, and community religious activities. The temple primarily enshrines Shakyamuni Buddha, along with Mahayana Buddhist statues such as Avalokitesvara (Guanyin Bodhisattva), and is well known for its exquisite wooden Buddha carvings and decorations. The temple's architecture blends Chinese and Thai styles, emphasizing pure spiritual practice and cultural heritage.
- ◆ Mallika City - Is a cultural heritage attraction located in Kanchanaburi Province, Thailand. It is a recreated historical town themed around the Siamese lifestyle during the reign of King Rama V (R.E.124). The park reconstructs traditional markets, wooden houses, and riverside living scenes to reflect late 19th-century Siamese society. Visitors can experience traditional Thai costume rentals, handicraft making, ancient-style cuisine, and historical trading systems, creating an immersive "time travel" experience. The site also presents the social hierarchy and cultural etiquette of the period, offering both educational and cultural value. Overall, it is designed to preserve and showcase traditional Thai heritage and way of life.
