The park is home to over 20,000 rare and endangered animals from more than 500 species, including: the world's only surviving panda triplets, the largest koala population outside Australia, China's first golden snub-nosed monkey twins (one male, one female) and the first proboscis monkey born in China.

FOSHAN

- ◆ Fengjian Water Town - Is located at the northern end of Xingtian Town, Shunde District, Foshan, Guangdong Province. Covering an area of approximately 5.2 square kilometres, it is one of the Four Famous Water Towns in Guangdong and is often known as the "Little Zhouzhuang of Guangdong." As one of the earliest settlements in Shunde, Fengjian has a history dating back to the Western Han Dynasty. Over the centuries, it developed into a thriving village and marketplace. During the Ming Dynasty, it became an important silk-producing area. At the height of the silk industry in the late Qing Dynasty, it was even known as "Little Guangzhou." The village is rich in historical and cultural heritage, featuring ancient bridges, ancestral halls, temples, traditional houses and centuries-old trees. Notable landmarks include Mingyuan Bridge, Liu Clan Ancestral Hall, Jiji Bridge and Jiniao Bridge. Together, these historic sites create a charming and well-preserved water-town atmosphere. In 2015, Fengjian Water Town was designated as a National AAAA Tourist Attraction. It has also received several tourism accolades, including recognition as a National Key Village for Rural Tourism and a China Beautiful Leisure Village.

SHENZHEN

- ◆ Huaqiangbei - Is one of Shenzhen's most iconic technology and commercial landmarks. Originally developed as an electronics market, it has grown into one of the world's most famous electronics trading districts and is widely known as "China's No. 1 Electronics Street." A visit to Huaqiangbei Museum offers an insight into the development of Shenzhen's electronics industry and the transformation of Huaqiangbei over the years. Visitors can also experience the spirit of Shenzhen — daring to explore, innovate and embrace new ideas.
- ◆ DJI Sky City - Is an iconic futuristic landmark in Nanshan District, Shenzhen, and serves as the headquarters of DJI, one of the world's leading drone technology companies. The building features a striking futuristic design, consisting of two towers connected by elevated structures, creating the distinctive appearance that inspired its name, "Sky City." Beyond its impressive architecture and modern design, DJI Sky City represents Shenzhen's strong spirit of technological innovation and urban development.
