Named after the legend of "Nine Dragons Giving Birth", it features intersecting canyons, Danxia cliffs, and clear waters, earning the title "Water Labyrinth". Visitors explore via Cuijiang bamboo rafting, viewing sights like Carp Mouth and thousand-year-old hanging coffins.
- Dongjiang Lake - Known as the "Eastern Switzerland," this National AAAAA Tourist Attraction—Dongjiang Lake is a vast and pristine body of water. Covering a surface area of 160 square kilometers, its water quality meets the national Grade-I standard for drinking water. Combining the exquisite beauty of mountains and the divine charm of water, Dongjiang Lake is praised as "a pool of water from the heavenly realm on earth, encompassing a myriad of scenes."Upon arrival at the Dongjiang Lake gateway, transfer to an eco-friendly scenic shuttle bus to enter the area. Take a walking tour along the Xiaodongjiang boardwalk and encounter the world wonder— Mist-Covered Xiaodongjiang River . Flanked by lush green peaks on both sides, the lake surface is shrouded in lingering, hazy, and ethereal mist. The mist shifts and condenses over time, resembling a white silk ribbon danced by a fairy. Extremely beautiful and hailed as a supreme wonder of China (Mist-Covered Xiaodongjiang is a natural phenomenon caused by temperature differences; visibility of the mist on any given day is not guaranteed), stepping into it feels like entering a fairyland.Next, head to the Dam Pier for a view from the vehicle of the Hougushan Waterfall and the exterior of the Dongjiang Dam . Then, visit Longjing Canyon , where mountains and water embrace each other. It is densely dotted with flowing springs and cascading waterfalls, featuring 26 waterfalls of varying sizes and 18 pools. With an air negative oxygen ion count exceeding 90,000 per cubic centiliter, it is the most ion-dense region known in the country and is honored as a "natural oxygen bar."
